

Held at: Maritime Gloucester,
23 Harbor Loop,
Gloucester, MA

October 15, 2016
2-5 PM

The SARGENT HOUSE MUSEUM & the LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS present:

'Republican Motherhood' to Democratic Nominee:

The Fight for Women's Equality in America from the Revolution to the Present

Panel speakers include:

Special Guest: Judith McHale was Hillary Clinton's Undersecretary of State for Public Diplomacy & Public Affairs (2009-2011) and former President and CEO of Discovery Communications.

18th-C: Dr. Neal Millikan works at MA Historical where she spent four years working on their editorial volumes and is well-versed in the history of the Adamses.

19th-C: Dr. Nicole Eaton has taught History and Literature at Harvard University and Simmons College. Her research focuses on historical memory and American feminism.

20th-21st C: Dr. Hannah Kimberley has taught at Old Dominion U. and Endicott College. Her research focuses on 19th- and 20th-century adventurers, women in politics and in the archives.

Moderator: June Michaels is director of The Cape Ann League of Women Voters.

~

At the end of the presentations, there will be time for audience questions and discussion.

Afterward, please join us for refreshments.

---

Judith Sargent Murray (1751-1820) published her landmark essay On the Equality of the Sexes in 1790, much of it written in her writing closet at Sargent House. Her championing of female equality has echoed through American history, and continues today with the first woman nominee for president, Hillary Clinton. In this election year, and leading up to our museum's centennial, we are hosting a colloquium on women's struggle for political and social equality in America.

---